Racing in Maryland Goes to Referendum at Election

Annapolis, Md., March 11.-Divorcement of the racing issue from the politics of Maryland through sending the entire question back to the people of the State, with a referendum, was the high light in claiming that Gharrity was willing the debate on the racing question in the House this afternoon, after to join the Nationals if he was the opponents of the continued tying of the entire legislative pro- needed. 10 .- After a couple of days of hand-picked weather the Giants are now grabbing their climate from the bottom of the barrel. The old sunpiece hasn't regis tered since last Saturday, except on Tuesday, when it came out just in time to set.

-Having welcomed the Giants to the State of Texas, the sun is probably off somewhere welcoming some other Yams to the works. The drizzle spoiled a perfect golf score for Larry Doyle, who took four niblicks along instead of six umbrellas and a mustard plaster. Larry was golfing out on the Brackenridge links, which was laid out by Mr. Tillinghast, in conjunction with Sam Lloyd and Ching Ling Foo, the great Chink magician

-The third hole is one for the loose leaf ledger. The San Antone River roars right by the tee in the roaring season, but generally it just kinda dribbles by, just deep enough to trap all the pills. This is the hole that was laid out by Spalding.

-Larry swung one that would have knocked the dandruff off the moon if he ever connected. It turned out to be a fielder's ped into the San The last seen of Larry he was fishing for it with a brassie, using Harry Verdon's photograph for bait.

-The San Antone rushes to the Gulf through a grand chasm of golf balls. Rube Benton is training a mackerel to act as his caddie. The ninth hole was laid out by Sam Lloyd and another for the autograph album. It is surrounded on three sides by the river and on the fourth by the law of averages.

---The crocodile lay around waiting for the Yam golfers to shoot 'em their dinners. A Spalding green dot or a Ouimet platinum center is considered a great delicacy by the alligators. The links are only a short carry from the Bexar County Comic Academy, and the dizzy birds hang out of the windows wondering why Fletcher, Kelly, Kauff, Benton and S atz are at large while they themselves are cutting out paper dollars for the retail and wholesale trade.

-Doc Birs carries around a set of dentist's forceps. Whenever Doc drives into a formfitting bunker, he allows himself fifty whacks with a mashie and finally yanks the pill out with the pliers. Science conquers brute strength.

-After a waddle over the links, the boys flat wheeled out to the hot wells where they can dive into the sulphur springs like a Swedish match. The only difference is Swedish matches should take a couple more dives. -The wells are presided over by a colored gent by the name of Step-and-a-half Mose.

He is the whole works. There is one room where you can get any kind of a bath you want. If you want a steam hat and tells you to take a long flying leap at Santa Claus. Real

-lf you want a Turkish bath. Mose puts on a turban. If you want a hot bath, Mose tells you to go where you can get one. Mose studied massaging in a race riot.

-George Burns sent himself along for a massage and the first thing Mose pulled was to soak George in the stomach with a mitt that looked like a sugar-cured ham. Burns dou-bled up like a Pullman upper Then Mose patted him on the skull with a Mexican bouquet of blackjacks and flattened him with a left hand that could hide a bass drum.

—-When Burns came out from under the ether, he stood outside the massage room and started to yell for Mose. -Every Giant and newspaper man fell for the oil, with the result that the wholet camp is lame two ways from the collar button.
